

"SEED TEMPLE" FUNDRAISING AUCTION ITEM: LABRADORITE SACRED SKULL

In 2012, this sacred labradorite skull came into the possession of Grandmother Flordemayo for the purpose of raising funds for her sacred Seed Temple, located in Estancia, New Mexico.

Over the last year this beautiful skull has participated in many ceremonies, teachings, and prayers with profound indigenous elders. This skull has participated in Mayan Fire ceremonies and teachings performed by Grandfather Don Alejandro Cirilo Perez Oxlajj, Wakatel Utiw (Wandering Wolf). In addition, the skull was a part of the blessings of the sacred Fire Temple and the Temple of the Golden Child. Additionally, it was a key part of prayers and ceremonial blessings with members of the 13 Indigenous Grandmothers during the initiation of the sacred Water Temple and special one-on-one prayers and ceremony with Paiute, Choctaw and other indigenous elders. Recent events also include prayers and blessings during the Reawakening of the Divine Feminine in fulfillment of the Mayan prophecy, Passing of the Staff of Leadership from the masculine to the feminine, and 36-hours of continuous prayers in honor of the Cosmic Alignment on December 20-21-22, 2012. It has been an active part of the prayers and initiation of the sacred Seed Temple in fulfillment of Grandmother Flordemayo's vision.

This life-sized skull weighs approximately 16 pounds and measures 8-½" in length, 6-½" wide, and 6-½" in height. This exquisite sacred skull is carved from shimmering opalescent blue, green, and gold colored labradorite stone. Labradorite is found in Madagascar, Africa, Canada, Finland and Newfoundland. It is known for mystical properties, assisting with intuition, psychic perception, and imagination. It can help in the understanding of one's chosen destiny through dreams and guidance from the ascended beings. Its healing properties include the alleviation of disorders associated with bone, spine, and joints. It provides calming and harmonizing psychological effects.

Bids for this one of a kind sacred labradorite skull will begin at $8,000 (USD). A minimum bid of $8,000 by the owner of this precious artifact will also receive a day with Grandmother Flordemayo in Estancia, New Mexico to work with the sacred skull and participate in a naming ceremony for it. Please note; this skull is a powerful healing & teaching tool. It should be used among community in the manner in which it has been trained. This sacred skull is not intended for exhibition purposes.
